Welcome to the first issue of The Sikh and Muslim Media Monitoring and Response Project newsletter. The steering group which consists of members from both faith communities in West London decided to produce a quarterly newsletter and this would be circulated to the local community, project partners, places of worship, local and national media, as well as posted on social media sites. The aim of this would be to spread the positive messages of the project as far afield as possible. The very first issue features information about the project, pictures of the group in action and much more.
